

Rounding Numbers

A field researcher recorded exactly how many he saw of each type of arctic animal. Then he rounded the total number for each animal to the nearest 10. If the number on the left is the rounded number, circle which number on the right represents the exact total he recorded (in other words, which number when rounded up, would equal the number on the left).

26

14

22

41

53

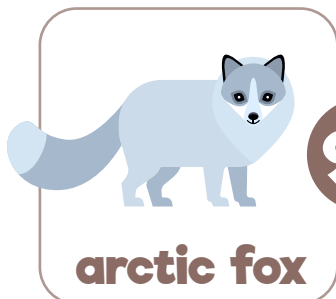

55

68

75

78

84

85

96

27

24

36