Plants and Sunlight: Part 2

Light affects plants' life in many ways. Lots of plants will bend towards the biggest source of light like the sun. In colder places trees grow bigger branches on their south side that gets the most sunlight. Some flowers open in the morning and close when the sun goes down.

Check off all the true statements.

Plants bend towards sunlight.

Trees have bigger branches on the north side.

Some flowers close at night.

