

Learning Syllables

Syllables are parts of words. Some words have just one syllable. Others can have several. Every syllable has a vowel.

Look at the pictures and say the words aloud. Clap your hands for every syllable you hear. Count the number of times you clapped for each word. Now, circle all the two-syllable words.

